I'm just bored of what I'm doing and they're going to give me shit for going on vacation because there's too much work this week. And there's still the West Face and Mackenzie jobs. And other jobs I can at least apply to. I have enough money that I can live the way I live now and not work for at least a year or two.

Are you? I will support and be happy for you no matter what you do. Because I love you. Don't quit on newtons birthday. I'm probably getting a ride down on moms way to shul so I'd say noon latest?
